

Musical Theatre Footlights

THE GINGHAM GIRL

There are two versions of the sheet music for The Gingham Girl. The first has the drawing of an urn overflowing with flowers. The second has a girl in a gingham dress holding hands with a boy holding a hat. What's the story?

We don't know for sure but our guess is that the urn cover was first, but it doesn't really depict anything gingham. So when it came time to reprint, they changed the cover to something more descriptive.

So the first edition is the urn one and the second set is the boy and girl.

